And it's coming as sure as fate, because the people know where to find the good clothing at the best prices. You can't take their eye off the bean pole by telling them to take a chance. They are not like the cross-eyed man. They are going where they are looking and you bet your bottom dollar they are buying. Why? Because the clothing is all new 1914 styles, guaranteed, and what is more they are waited on by clever gentlemen who can put them on the back three times before they can turn around. Come in and enjoy the sunshine.

POULTRY EXPERT

Secured by Kentucky Experiment Station to Lecture in the State.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 7.—H. W. Rieck, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, has been secured to cooperate with the experiment station in the poultry department to do poultry club work in a few counties this year and to give lectures wherever it is thought well to develop poultry interests.

Mr. Rieck will work directly with farmers and farmer boys and girls in the developing of individual poultry in this rather than with commercial poultrymen. Mr. Rieck graduated from the agricultural college of Maryland, and has wide experience in practical poultry work. He comes to Lexington from Kingston, R. I., where he was head of poultry demonstration in the College of Agriculture.

BOYS' CORN AND PIG CLUBS

Organized Thursday, February 5th by County Demonstrator A. M. Casey at Maysville High School.

On last Thursday County Demonstrator A. M. Casey organized the Boys' Corn and Pig Clubs at the Maysville High School with the following Mason County boys as members:

Samuel Brooking, Charles Coryell, Edgar Collopy, Charles Downing, Chas. F. Kerr, S. G. Owens, John L. Glascock, Tom Parry, Jr., Reed Rosser, Richard Sward, Lorne Taggle, Clarence Wood, Jr., Richard Gaither.

The following are the officers for the Corn Club:

Jewell Stearns, president.
B. D. Owens, vice-president.
Marshall B. Wood, secretary.
David Glascock, treasurer.

Officers for the Pig Club are as follows:

Charles Coryell, president.
Charles Kerr, vice-president.
Lorne Taggle, secretary.
Richard Gaither, treasurer.

The best cultured methods were thoroughly explained by Mr. Casey and the following plan was suggested for handling the pig question:

Aces in 1913—
Winter cover crop of oats and crimson clover, or rye and vetch to suit local conditions.

Aces in 1914—
With winter cover crop.

1. In lot 1 in January put sow that will farrow in March or April.

2. Last of March or 1st of April move sow and pigs to lot 2. Turn under lot land, plant some good forage crop for grazing from June to September.

3. About the 1st of June move sow and pigs to lot 1. Turn under soil in lot 2 and sow cow peas, or some good forage crop suitable for fattening purposes.

4. About the 1st of September move sow and pigs to lot 2, turn under soil on lot 1 and plant to winter cover crop.

5. When the pigs have eaten the crop on lot 2 place them in pen, and feed corn grown on acre in 1914. Then put sow and new litter of pigs on lot 1.

This is merely an outline, and can be varied to suit conditions. The plan is that the boy grow an acre of corn to feed his sow and pigs in addition to the forage raised on the acre, devoted to the use of the sow and litters. The sow should have two litters of pigs a year to be profitable. The lot may be divided into four parts.

The co-operation of the school trustees, parents and teachers is solicited by Mr. Casey in working out some definite plan, to put the boy in line to make money, and learn to farm profitably, while studying the printed page.

HIGHLY HONORED

House Committee Says Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart Is One of Nation's Greatest Teachers.

Washington, February 7.—The House Committee on Education today wrote the name of Cora Wilson Stewart, County School Superintendent in Rowan County, Ky., in the list of great educators of the United States.

In a report to the House the committee described the successful work of Mrs. Stewart in eradicating illiteracy from Rowan County in her famous moonlight schools.

The report was in connection with the favor bill for a commission to investigate illiteracy in the United States and study methods for its elimination. In reporting this bill favorably the committee described the work of Mrs. Stewart in Rowan County as the best example of the possibilities of ending illiteracy.

"In Rowan County, Kentucky," said the report, "the illiteracy among grown-up men in that county has been reduced in three years from more than 12 per cent. to practically nothing. Mrs. Stewart wrote the committee a short time ago that there were now only six men and women in the county who could not read and write."

The history of that achievement is one of the most interesting and hopeful chapters in the records of educational progress in this country. Mrs. Stewart, whose name deserves an honored place among American educators decided to make an effort to abolish the stain of illiteracy.

She called her teachers together, outlined her plan, and called for volunteers. All the teachers of the county responded. On Labor Day, September 4, 1911, these teachers visited the homes of the people throughout the county, explained the plan and announced that moonlight schools would open the next evening.

More than 1,200 men and women, from 18 to 86 years old, were enrolled the first evening. Among these were not only illiterate farmers and their illiterate wives, sons and daughters, but also illiterate merchants, illiterate ministers and illiterate lumbermen.

After an extended description of the technical teaching method employed in Rowan County, the report concluded:

"Illiteracy is much more easy of eradication than the hook worm. The experiment in Kentucky showed that in most cases an adult can learn to read and write in one month. One man, 39 years old, after four lessons, wrote the Superintendent a legible letter. Another man, 70 years old, wrote a legible letter after seven nights. A woman, 70 years old, wrote a legible letter after eight nights of study."

ST. PATRICK SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Though pursuing daily their Bible and Christian Doctrine studies, the one hundred and seventy-three pupils of St. Patrick Parochial Schools need no special canvass to induce them to attend Sunday School. Impressed early in life with the necessity for a religious training, the cry "BACK TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOL," is not for them.

Forbidding as was the biting cold yesterday, practically the entire student body of one hundred and seventy-three of the Parochial School reported at the Sunday School, which number, by the addition of a few Catholic children beyond the eighth grade in the city public schools and by a few more from the county schools, was swelled to about two hundred, which number is about the average Sunday School attendance at this church throughout the year.

Farmers

Have you ever tried our way of borrowing money to pay for a farm?

You, of course, know that most farms are sold for one-third cash and the balance of the payment is represented by lien notes due in one and two years. You also know that there are times when it is impossible to pay these notes when they become due.

Our specialty is lending money on good farms for LONG PERIODS. Wouldn't you rather have five years to pay the balance than two years? Any one expecting to buy farms this March will do well to come in and consult us about getting the money.

We have been giving satisfactory service for 24 years.
